Official Chinese documents and comments on Falun Gong	4	Document(s) of 610 Office, XX County, the Chinese Communist Party #03-2006 Issued by 610 Office, XX County (Photos)	Classified How To Conduct Prevention and Control during the “May 1” Period Excerpt - Strengthen prevention and control over “important figures”. Before the “May 1” festival, face-to-face talks must be given to “important figures” and “not-trust-worthy figures” individually and respectively to learn about their thoughts and tendency of actions. Implement “3-on-1” prevention and control measures, strictly restrict them from going out to initiate and create incidents. Proper arrangements must be made of their work and production to timely solve their worries and difficulties and to stabilize their thoughts and mood. Prevention and control should adopt appropriate methods so that internally controls are tight and externally all appear slack, thus preventing negative effects. (With scans of original documents in Chinese)	610 Office Chinese originals and translation	2006	https://chinatribunal.com/wp-content/uploads/2019/05/20060426_Document-of-610-office.pdf

It follows the party administrative hierarchical structure. While the national Ministry of Public Security has made the final decision on which group is a cult, there is practically no provision for checking how this identification process is done at the local level, nor is there any opportunity for the people involved to state their case.	Translated in and published by the Chinese Law & Government Journal (2003)	2000	https://chinatribunal.com/wp-content/uploads/2019/05/20000430_1Notice-on-Various-Issues-Regarding-Identifying-and-Banning-of-Cultic-Organizations.pdf
